PluroGen Therapeutics, Inc. Announces

US Patent Claims Allowed
For its Advanced PluroGel® Biomaterial

Norristown, Pennsylvania 21 July 2014

PluroGen Therapeutics, Inc., leading solutions for wound, burn and skin care with its advanced PluroGel® Biomaterial surfactant products, announced today that it received notice from the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) that new patent claims will be allowed for its Advanced PluroGel® Biomaterial. PluroGen expects a new patent to issue.

The claims noted by the USPTO that will be allowed cover the special ability of the Company's advanced PluroGel® Biomaterial to have a positive effect in preventing or dispersing biofilms in wounds. Biofilm establishment in a wound is thought to prevent wound healing. PluroGel's ability prevent or disperse biofilms is a significant performance feature differentiating PluroGel® products and giving them important competitive advantage.

"Receiving a new patent that directly covers our advanced PluroGel® Biomaterial products will be an important new strategic asset for the Company adding protection and value for Plurogen and its investors" noted Neal Koller, President and CEO of PluroGen.
