PluroGen Therapeutics, Inc. Announces

Canadian Patent Office Allows Claims
For PluroGen's Polysaccharide Natural Gel Technology

Norristown, Pennsylvania, 10 September 2014

PluroGen Therapeutics, Inc., leading solutions for wound, burn and skin care with its advanced PluroGel® Biomaterial surfactant products, announced today that it received notice from the Canadian Patent Office that new patent claims will be allowed for its Polysaccharide Natural Gel Technology.

The Polysaccharide Natural Gel Technology will be used for the Company's next generation PluroGel® Products, providing clinically important new features for the PluroGel® line. Additionally, the Polysaccharide Natural Gel Technology holds the potential for a new line of products addressing new markets for the Company.

"Obtaining patent protection in Canada for our Polysaccharide Natural Gel Technology is an important milestone for the Company strengthening our intellectual property portfolio and our future market launch position in the Canadian market" commented Neal Koller, PluroGen President & CEO.
